The Case of Brothers Burris & Little

upon which Brother Burris expressed, That he and Brother Little had not tabbed on their matter for the lack of opportunity upon which they are requested to go out, and try to reconcile their matter between themselves, Which they did, and after they had been out a considerable time Brothers N. M. Clark, and S. L. Little went to them, and by their request and consent, engaged with the two aforesaid brethren to reconcile them with each other, and after considerable labour, the Lord giving them brotherly feeling they forgave each other acknowledging their faults, and was thus reconciled and then Brother Clark, and Brother Little engaged to try settle their difficulty which they did acknowledging their faults to each other and thus forgiving each other and upon the roll of the matter brotherly love fellowship and union is restored between the three aforesaid brethren
